

PERSHING WILL REMAIN IN MEXICO

Failure of El Paso Confer- ences Brings No Change In the Policy

DISCUSS SCOTT'S REPORT

Additional State Troops Will Be Called for Border Duty Should Raiding Be Renewed

WILL NOT HESITATE TO CROSS

ASHINGTON, May 12.—Failure of the military conference at El Paso to reach a definite agreement has brought no change in the policy toward Mexico of the Washington administration. President Wilson and his cabinet discussed General Scott's report announcing that the questions at issue had been referred back by the conferees to their respective governments for diplomatic discussion.

Announce Situation is Unchanged

Later it was officially stated that the situation was unchanged. There was no evidence among administration officials of greatly increased concern over the events at the border and in Mexico. President Wilson left this afternoon for a week-end trip down Chesapeake Bay on the naval yacht Mayflower. Secretary Baker took a train for Atlantic City and Newark, N. J., and will not return until Sunday.

The text of General Scott's report of his final discussions has not been made public. There are indications, however, that he arrived at something in the nature of a gentleman's understanding with the Mexican war minister, tho it possibly had no more definite form than a statement by each side, of steps taken to check raids along the Texas border.

Pending new orders from the president it was made plain at the war department that General Pershing's expedition would remain in Mexico watching developments beyond the border. Meanwhile mobilization of national guardsmen from the border states and of additional regulars to strengthen the border patrol at points along the 1500 mile stretch not protected by the expedition, continues. Should raiding be renewed additional states troops will be called out for border duty and wherever the bandits leave a hot trail the army will not hesitate to pursue them into Mexico.

Indicate Attitude in Congress

An indication of the attitude of some members of congress toward the suggestion of General Carranza that the American expedition be recalled came in the senate today when Senator Lewis declared he believed the majority of the senate never would vote for withdrawal until the murderers of Americans had been punished. The Illinois senator spoke in reply to a suggestion by Senator Kenyon, that nothing adequate was being done to safeguard the soldiers now in Mexico. Senator Lewis declared every possible precaution was being taken by the war department.

Neither Secretary Lansing nor Eliseo Arredondo, Carranza's ambassador designate, took any step during the day toward renewing diplomatic discussion of the points that arose during the military conference. Secretary Lansing will discuss matters with General Scott on his return next week before taking up formal communications with the Mexican ambassador.

War department officials laid stress on the fact that General Pershing's orders were unchanged. While General Pershing now is concentrating his forces along a shortened line it was positively stated that he would hurry south again immediately if he received definite information that Villa or any considerable number of his band had gathered at a point within striking range.

No Mention of Villa in Despatches

General Pershing, it was said, kept going as long as he had a hot trail to follow. For days there has been no mention of Villa's name in official despatches, and officials here who at the border do not know his whereabouts or even whether he is still alive. It was this situation, it was indicated, as well as the increasing danger of clashes with the Mexican population as the scattered bands moved southward, which led General Pershing to suggest a redistribution of the troops in view of what had been accomplished toward dispersing the bandits.

At present the most advanced post of the expedition is in the region of San Antonio, Mexico 216 miles south of the border. The concentration now in progress, was made necessary in part by the approach of the rainy season and the increased difficulties that are to be expected in carrying to the front the vast quantity of supplies needed for the troops.

If General Pershing's supply lines are seriously threatened by bad weather, vigorous measures may have to be taken to see that the men at the front are properly cared for. Six Troops in Vicinity of Boquillas.

WILLIAM WHITE, NEGRO TROOPER AT FORT LEAVENWORTH, KILLS TWO

Holds Squad of Officers at Bay With a High Powered Rifle and Escapes Across River.

Leavenworth, Kans., May 12.—Fort Leavenworth practically was stripped of troops tonight every available soldier having been sent across the river to the Missouri shore to hunt for William White, a negro trooper, who effected his release from the service school yesterday and today shot and killed Sergeant James C. Jackson and Ernest Brown, a domestic employed at the fort and slightly wounded Miss Minnie Thomas also a domestic. Sergeant Jackson and the Brown woman were negroes. The women were shot thru windows while at work, while the officer was killed in the fort stables.

No cause had been attributed by fort officials or the police tonight as to the cause of the shooting. White fled to the river, and keeping a squad of officers at bay with a high-powered rifle, managed to cross to the Missouri side, where he disappeared.

GOTCH MUST GET IN FIRST CLASS CONDITION TO WRESTLE STECHER

WATERLOO, Iowa, May 12.—In spite of all that has been said and written about the possibility of a match between Frank Gotch and Joe Stecher, there will never be one staged unless the champion can get himself in first class physical condition. Gotch made this plain in an interview here today. Gotch stated that he is recovering nicely from his recent illness, but has had very little opportunity of finding out whether he can again train down for a championship match.

"Everything I have, I owe to the loyalty of the wrestling fans," said Gotch, "and the confidence they have in me will never be violated for the mere sake of a few thousand dollars. If I ever agree to another championship match it will be after I know I am in such condition that I have an even break. No purse can be large enough to tempt me unless these conditions exist."

CHICAGO, May 12.—Mike Collins manager of Fred Fulton said tonight he had wired an offer of $27,000 to Jess Willard for a ten round contest at Hudson, Wis., on July 4th. Fulton is expected to arrive from his Rochester, Minn., home in the morning.

Waterloo, Iowa, May 12.—Tom Jones, manager of Jess Willard stated today that he would go to Chicago tonight to meet Mike Collins and if Collins can show a purse of $35,000 he will agree to a match between Willard and Fred Fulton.

"All I am asking is that the Fulton fellows show us the cash and I will let Fulton have a chance with the champion," Mr. Jones stated.

The sub-committee which already recommended by a vote of 3 to 2, confirmation of the Brandeis nomination will draft a supplementary report when today's evidence has been printed. There was no indication tonight as to when a vote in the full committee might be expected.

OWNERS BEGIN EFFORT TO RECOVER APPAM

SUBMIT LETTER FROM LANSING TO BERNSTORFF IN COURT

Secretary Expresses Opinion that the Appam Did not Fall Under the Protecting Clauses of the Prussian-American Treaty.

Norfolk, Va., May 12.—British owners of the German prize ship Appam began their effort to recover possession of the vessel in federal court here today with the submission of a letter from Secretary Lansing to the German ambassador at Washington expressing the opinion that the Appam did not fall under the protecting clauses of the Prussian-American treaty. The secretary's letter holding to a view opposite to that which it had been understood was entertained by the state department was admitted in evidence by Judge Waddell over the protest of attorneys for the German government and Lieutenant Hans Berg, the prize commander, joint defendants in the owners' libel suit. Preliminary briefs have indicated that the German case would be built largely upon the treaty provision referred to in the letter.

Secretary Lansing in the letter incorporated in the trial record today, made the point that the Appam came into Hampton Roads, not in custody of a German war ship, but purely as a merchant prize and alone. The Prussian-American treaty, he held, extended protection to a prize only when conveyed into port by a war vessel. It was pointed out however, that this was a legal question that should be passed upon by the court, and the letter was introduced, attorneys said as evidence in the nature of expert testimony. It was understood tonight that the German ambassador's reply sharply combating the position of Secretary Lansing which never has been made public would be submitted to the court later by the German counsel, and that a rejoinder from the secretary might also be put in evidence.

The Appam's position when captured was given by her officers today as about 190 miles from the point given by Lieutenant Berg. The owners say she was about 1500 miles nearer Emden than Norfolk and that her captors were bound by international law to take her into the German port rather than across the Atlantic.

Chicagoan Seeks to Restrain Treasurer Russell and Auditor Brady From Paying Items in General Deficiency Bill.

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—Attorney General Lucey today filed in the Sangamon county circuit court his answer of the defendants in the suit brought by John B. Fergus of Chicago against State Treasurer Andrew Russell and State Auditor James J. Brady to restrain the payment of items in the general deficiency bill. The circuit court sustained special demurrers recently, holding that the defendants were not responsible for money paid out in good faith under appropriations passed by the legislature. The court, however, overruled the general demurrer of the attorney general to which permission was granted to answer.

In the answer filed today only two of the deficiency appropriations of which there were many were covered. These are the appropriations of $4,500 to the state auditor, which the answer states was paid out before the suit was instituted, and the appropriation of $15,000 for the Southern Illinois penitentiary at Chester, which the answer states, has been paid out with the exception of $3,800.

EXPECT AGREEMENT ON ARMY BILL TO BE REACHED TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Agreement of the senate and house conferees on the army reorganization bill is expected to be reached tomorrow, and the committee tonight ordered a tentative print of its report with a few sections still left in dispute. A deadlock in prospect after a stormy morning session but this afternoon the conference was calm and results came quickly. So far as could be learned tonight the regular army to be provided by the conference bill would aggregate 175,000 fighting men in time of peace, organized in accordance with the elastic system provided in the senate bill so that it might be expanded to 218,000 men in an emergency. The national guard would aggregate 400,000 men, required to take an oath of allegiance to the national government and to be given representation on the general staff of the army. The house amendment to the government nitrate plant section of the senate bill has been accepted.

ORDERS RE-ORGANIZATION OF FIRST LINE OF ATLANTIC FLEET

Daniels Places Six of the Older Bat- tleships in Reserve to Release Large Part of Crews to Man Des- troyers and New Dreadnaughts.

Washington, May 12.—Reorganization of the first line of the Atlantic fleet was ordered today by Secretary Daniels so as to place six of the older battleships in reserve and release a large part of their crews to man a destroyer division and the new dreadnaughts Oklahoma and Nevada.

The New Jersey, Virginia, Rhode Island and the Nebraska were ordered in reserve at the Boston navy yard, the Connecticut at Philadelphia and the Louisiana at Norfolk. When repairs have been completed, they will be maintained with their crews reduced 60 per cent, but in shape for active service within 48 hours. These vessels will be included in the nine battleships to be used this summer for naval militia and citizen volunteer training cruises. All six of the ships are of the old superposed turret type.

About 4,200 men made available by the change, were divided between six destroyers and the new dreadnaughts. Sixteen big battleships in four divisions will constitute the new first line of the fleet, including the Pennsylvania, to be delivered by the contractors on June 1.

With addition of 15,000 men in the navy, proposed in the pending bill before congress navy officials said tonight that it would be possible to take several ships from the reserve and return them to active service. The department is also endeavoring to work out a plan by which naval militia can be instantly assigned in case of war, to the duty in manning ships on the reserve.

GERMANS CAPTURE BRITISH TRENCHES

Teutons Begin Offensive Against English Around Hulluch

FRENCH RETAKE POINTS

Bombardments Again Take Place in Vicinity of Le Mort Homme and Cumieres

EXECUTE TWO IRISH LEADERS

Switching their attack from the Verdun region against the French, the Germans have begun again a sharp offensive against the British line around Hulluch.

Preceding their movements with the usual heavy bombardments the Germans launched an infantry attack against the British lines in the region of Vermelles and were successful in capturing first line trenches over a front of about 500 yards. The British admit the loss of the positions but say that part of them were retaken in a counterattack.

Berlin declares that in their defense of the trenches and especially later in the counterattacks, the British suffered heavy casualties and in addition lost men taken prisoners and several machine guns captured. Around Verdun the French on the left bank of the Meuse have recaptured points of vantage previously taken from the southeast of Hancourt by the Germans. Bombardments are again taking place in the vicinity of LeMort Homme and Cumieres, and against the French first and second line trenches on the right bank of the Meuse between the Haudrament wood and Vaux.

A German attack southeast of Fort Douaumont was repulsed.

Considerable infantry fighting which as yet has been without result is in progress on the Dvinsk and Jacobstadt sectors of the Russian front. Petrograd reports that German attacks at several points here and farther south have been repulsed.

In the Austro-Italian theater intense artillery actions are ensuing in the Col di Lana zone and the Italians have put down two Austrian attempts at attack against captured positions on Mount Cukla.

Petrograd reports further progress for the Russians fighting against the Turks near the Persian frontier, with Bagdad as their objective. Here the Turks attempted to take the offensive but Petrograd says the movement was repulsed. Farther north, near Aschakla, which is situated some fifty miles west of Erezum, the Russians claim to have made further progress westward. This, however, is at variance with the claims of Constantinople which says the Russians driven out of their positions at Mount Kope, west of Erezum are making every effort to maintain themselves in new positions.

Two other leaders in the Irish rebellion, James Connolly, known as commandant-general of the Irish republic army and John McDermott have been tried by court martial and shot.

In Chicago they are continually doing something to save time and the latest in this line the introduction of the "shaveria." By this new barber shop plan the patron enters a small compartment where he has all the accessories for self-shaving and can attend to the work without the tiresome waiting for the "next" call and can escape without tipping the porter.

It is the history of every city that moves forward that money is spent for public improvements. Because people here have opposed public improvements there have been practically no improvements for the past ten years. It is time to put away the hammers, to stop the knocking, to boost, and for the people to be "for" something and not "against" everything.

It has remained for an Oakland man to give the best evidence of a desire for education and a realization that education will as a rule aid in keeping man in the straight and narrow path. This man had been "going crooked" for a long time and attributed his misdoings to a lack of learning, so he purposely raised a check and when he was given a sentence of eighteen months expressed his disappointment, declaring that he had hoped to get four years in San Quentin prison in order that he might have the advantage of that much training in one of the shops in that well known prison.

The Journal supported the bond issue two years ago because it believed that the development of the light plant was for the best interests of the whole city—taxpayers and non-taxpayers. The Journal still holds that belief and for that sole reason is advocating the issuance of bonds now. The light and water departments of Jacksonville are worth the money they have cost and will be just that much more valuable if improved and enlarged in accordance with the plans now proposed.

Taft and Roosevelt.

Some of the papers are hinting that before the Republican national convention is over there may be a reconciliation between Roosevelt and Taft, those arch political enemies of the past four years. Up to this time there has been no signs of peace between the two former presidents, but just as strange things have happened in politics as their "making up" would be. However, a majority of those who are guessing think it probable that Mr. Taft will before many days lend all the strength he has to the candidacy of Justice Hughes.

It is said that Justice Hughes is unmistakably gratified by the interest Mr. Taft has displayed in an effort to induce him to leave the bench and permit the use of his name

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON

BLOWING IT IN.

Of all the divers brands of joy that make our journey sunny, of all the bliss without alloy, there's none like spending money. It's well to put away a wad, against the rainy weather, it's well, when hard times are abroad, to have some coins together. But when you've salted down a roll of sestertius and talant, then, to invigorate your soul, go out and blow the balance. Don't let the saving habit grow, until you are a miser; salt down a part, a portion blow—that policy's the wiser. I like to toddle to the bank and put some bones in pickle. I like to save, but I'm no crank on saving every nickel. I like to take the extra plunk, and to the mart go flying, and buy a lot of useless junk just for the sake of buying. I like to whisper to the clerk, "Get busy, boy, get busy! I've come to buy the whole blamed works, and make you fellows dizzy!" Of all the standard brands of bliss, that fill our lives with honey, there's surely nothing equals this—the blowing in of money!

DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.

May 13, 1890—William Henry Harrison was appointed governor of Indiana territory (then including Illinois).

before the convention. The announcement is also that Justice Hughes is genuinely surprised at the large interest which has been shown thruout the country in the availability of his candidacy.

The proposed bond issue will benefit the city in two ways, in that it will reduce operating expenses and increase the revenue. If you believe in the city retaining its light and water departments and developing them, vote for the issuance of bonds next Tuesday. If you are against the city ownership of these two departments and believe the present city administration is dishonest or incompetent, vote against the bonds.

More trouble seems certain for President Wilson with reference to the confirmation of Louis D. Brandeis to the supreme court. In recent days a number of senators, including James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, have joined the ranks of those who have pet grievances against the administration because of the recognition given the cabinet members, recommendations in patronage distribution. Senator Lewis had to give way in the Chicago post office fight for a personal appointment by Postmaster General Burleson. While all of the disgruntled senators have not stated positively that they are opposed to the Brandeis appointment, enough information has leaked out to make it very sure that it will not be wise to bring the question to a vote at the present time.

The city commissioners of Jacksonville are advocating the issuance of bonds as a means of developing the light and water departments of the city and operating these departments more economically. To vote the bonds does not mean to give the commission money to squander or to invest unwisely. The bond money will furnish working capital and within a few years' time will put the city in a better financial condition than now.

A Way to Peace.

Samuel McClure, publisher, who has just returned from a trip abroad, declares that he found a sentiment for peace only in Germany and Austria. In other countries at war there no hints of peace. Mr. McClure does not attribute the German and Austrian sentiment to fear as to their final success but rather to the desire on the part of merchants and manufacturers in those nations to resume business relations with the rest of the world. Perhaps herein lies a key to peace, for to seek peace for business reasons would not carry with it the odium of defeat that would attend a desire for termination of the war because of exhaustion or fear as to the final results. If this is not the solution it yet remains for some private citizen or organization or some private citizen to find the way to peace. For all nations, without acknowledging it, are groping about seeking light.

It has been urged that now is an unfavorable time to buy machinery and apparatus because of the high cost of metals and other materials. The members of the city council are business men of good judgment and if the people vote in favor of the bonds it does not mean that those bonds will be issued at once and the money expended. The city officials are on record with the statement that when the bonds are authorized that they will not be sold and the money realized until the time is favorable for the purchase of equipment. If authorized, the bonds will not be sold all at one time and the money placed on deposit, but they will be issued as purchases are made and payments are due for contracts let. The only exception will be in the instance of the motor trucks for the fire department, for which the contracts have already been let, subject to the approval of the people at the bond election.

Mayor Schooled in Electricity.

In considering the plans for the enlargement of the water and light departments of Jacksonville it is well to remember that Mayor Rodgers is an experienced mechanic and electrician. His father before him was a mechanic and Henry Rodgers has been doing mechanical work of one kind and another from his boyhood days up, and is thoroughly interested in such work. In 1895 he built the electric light plant at Waverly and operated it for a period of seventeen years. He sold current at the flat rate of 7 1/2 cents and made money.

It therefore happens that the mayor's judgment with reference to steam and electrical machinery is of very decided value to the city and a factor which should be taken into consideration in voting on the question of the issuance of bonds. Other members of the council are also skilled in mechanical affairs, although they have not had the direct experience with electrical equipment.

The present represents a crisis in the affairs of Jacksonville. The present city officials who were elected to office about a year ago, have studied the question carefully and have recommended to the people the issuance of bonds for the extension of the light and water departments. The reasons have been given for the extension of these departments and the figures have been shown to prove that the savings made and the increases of revenue, aside from any commercial lighting possibility, will much more than offset the taxation costs for the bonds and within twenty years time the city can pay off the bonds and interest and have the enlarged light and water departments working efficiently and paid for.

It is high time for the people of this city to get together on some forward movement, to stop the "pulling back" which has characterized these latter years, and thus thoroughly refute the charge often made that Jacksonville people are never able to unite on any proposition.

Indian Day in U. S.

This is "Indian Day" thruout the United States and quite a number of institutions and organization will carry out programs paying special tribute to the American Indian. There has been quite a change of feeling toward the Indian in the United States during passing years and quite a general recognition of the truth that a lot of injustice was done the "red skins" in the earlier days. Now we look upon the Indians as people just about like ourselves except with a different colored skin, and lacking in the past educational advantages which present citizens of the United States enjoy. With the same surroundings and the same advantages the Indian makes just as desirable and useful a citizen as the "pale face." And in view of this fact it is a matter of congratulation that statistics show that there are more Indians in the United States now than was true ten years ago. We can hope that the Indian will not become extinct but will flourish in this country.

IT IS A MATTER OF ECONOMY

How much cash will the people of Jacksonville be out if they do not vote for and carry the bond issue?

Two years ago when the last bond issue was under consideration the Jacksonville Railway & Light company proposed and offered to furnish the current at their switch board for 800 sixty watt series street lights, the city to put in the lamps and street lines, for $9,000 per year, or $12,000 per year and they would furnish the street lines and lamps, etc.

Mr. Newman was the spokesman for Mr. Miser and believed in what he was saying. But on the final hearing, and proposition prepared by Mr. Miser, and one of the company's engineers, Mr. Miser changed the offer to $12,000, the city to furnish street lines, or $15,000 per year and the company furnish street lines.

The city's new street lights have been in service two years now. The city has 921 sixty and one hundred watt lamps in service which would cost if purchased from the company at least one fourth more than the 800 lamps.

The current for motor pumps was to be $15,000 per annum on the output at that time. The city hall was lighted by the Jacksonville Railway & Light company at $30 per month or $360 per year. This would make a total cost of $27,320 per year. The city's remodeled plant has been in operation two years. If the city had purchased current from the Railway & Light company it would have amounted to $54,720 for the two years.

The city plant's cost for generating current including labor, oil, waste, etc., and fuel, shows an average of $1,412 per month, which for two years has cost $33,888; to which add $1,000 per year for depreciation, making cost of production for two years $35,888, which would leave a saving of $18,832.

Total cost current at switch board Jacksonville Railway & Light company $54,720

Total cost of current at switchboard at city plant 35,888

Seven Hundred Automobiles to be used by

Delco-Light Salesmen

The "Delco," which has had such an important part in the automobile industry by being the pioneers in the making of starting, lighting and ignition equipment, have brought out a new product. The new product is Delco-light, an electric plant for farm, village and suburban homes.

They have created an entirely new organization to handle the new product, and over seven or eight hundred salesmen will each use an automobile to carry the new product for demonstration purposes right out into the field where it is to go.

Every owner of a Delco-equipped car who lives in the country will be interested in seeing a demonstration of this new plant.

Delco-light can be disposed of by putting it in the basement or in an outbuilding just like Delco equipment is disposed of by putting it under the hood of the automobile and there it sets doing its duty day after day, as the automobile drivers know.

The new product is sure to be an epoch-making one in country places where they will soon be as used to turning a switch to secure light and perform all the little chores as they are now to pulling a button to start the automobile.

Mr. S. R. Hussey will represent this product thruout Morgan and Sangamon counties and will have permanent offices and display rooms in 300 East State street, opposite post office, where he will be very glad to demonstrate this plant to any one interested.

ONLY ONE BIDS FOR AEROPLANE
MAIL SERVICE IN ALASKA

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Opening of bids today at the postoffice department for aeroplane mail service on seven routes in Alaska and one in Massachusetts developed only one bidder. D. L. Byers of Iditarod, Alaska, offered to undertake service for a year between Seward and Iditarod, a distance of 380 miles for $45,500. The department will consider its acceptance. Department officials attribute the lack of bids to the fact that American aeroplane manufacturers are busy on contracts for the European belligerents and most of them have sold their product far in advance. One concern wrote Postmaster Burleson that existing contracts with the United States government stood in the way of its making a bid.

NEWS FLASHES.

Toronto, May 12.—Patrons of moving picture houses will be obliged to pay an extra cent every time they go to the show beginning next Monday. This applies thruout Ontario. Waukegan, Ill., May 12.—When William H. Oert, student at the University of Wisconsin, comes into court on Monday next to stand trial for the alleged murder of Marion Lambert, his sweetheart, one of the most interesting murder cases in the history of Illinois courts will begin. It is understood that the defense will rely upon an attempt to prove that Marion Lambert committed suicide on the day that she took poison in the woods at Lake Forest. The source of the poison crystals which the girl swallowed and which caused her death, will have much weight in deciding whether the death of the girl is a case of suicide over lost love or a carefully planned murder by which the girl was induced to take the fatal poison under the belief that it was a drug for another purpose.

Mr. Vasconcellos Shows Why
Bonds Are Advisable

Jacksonville, Ill., May 12, 1916.

To the People:

As your commissioner of public property, at the head of the water and light departments, I believe it my duty to give some facts and figures concerning the cost of operation for the department and compare these figures with charges made by the light company when power was being purchased from them. In Friday morning's Journal Mr. Miser referred to my report to the city council dated Jan 2. In that report the kilowatts were estimated as everything was not metered. Since that time new meters have been installed and we have thus been enabled to secure absolutely correct readings. We have made correct tests and these tests show that the power used for pumping at the north side station and for all the city lights, 921 in number, and including the City Hall building, is 1 1-10 cents or 11 mills per kilowatt hour.

Now, to make the matter plainer to you, here are the figures; based upon the cost of labor, fuel, waste and oil. These figures cover the last six months of 1915 are as follows:

Total cost for six months' pumping and lighting$8,472.60
Total cost for one month for pumping and lighting 1,412.10

When the light company made a proposition two years ago to furnish the city light the price made was $12,000 a year or $1,000 a month for 800 lights. On the same basis for the 921 lights we are now using their charge would have been at least $1,200 per month. Receipted bills from the Jacksonville Railway & Light company on file at the city hall show that during four months of 1911 the power charges for the north side pumping station amounted to $2,558.90. This power was for the operation of but two wells part of the time and made an average charge of $639.72 per month. Figured in horse power this means a charge of $28.43 per month per horse power, as the total horse power of the motors used in these wells was 22 1-2.

The city has been pumping with its own current four wells at the north side station for the six months period already mentioned, consuming 62 1-2 horse power. At the same time the city plant has furnished current for the 200 horse power pump, making a total consumption of power of 262 1-2 horse power. If the Jacksonville Railway & Light company had furnished this power and had charged the city at the same rate that was charged during the four months of 1911 already referred to, the railway company's bill would have been $7,462.87 per month.

It is true that in an effort to secure all the lighting and pumping business of the city of Jacksonville that the railway and light company had a proposition to furnish current for pumping at $15,000 a year. Had the contract been awarded to them at this figure, in addition to the $12,000 for city street lighting as proposed by them, the city would have been paying them $27,000 a year, which is $2,250 per month. These figures do not take into account the fact that we now have 921 lights, whereas the company's figure was for 800 lights. If the same number of lights were used it would be necessary to add at least $200 more, bringing the amount which we would be paying the railway & light company under their proposition for the same power and light now supplied from the city plant, $2,450 a month, whereas our record and figures show that the city is producing this same light and power for $1,412.10 per month.

Another bill from the railway & light company on file at the city hall is a matter of interest. It bears the date of Feb. 7, 1913, and shows a charge for furnishing current at the north side station of $1,341.53. This was for 18 days' service. In giving the figures above I have used horse power instead of kilowatts because it seemed to me that this way of expressing the matter was more readily understandable. Well No. 3 is operated by a 7 1-2 horse power motor, well No. 4 by a 15 horse power motor, well No. 1 with a 20 horse power motor, well No. 5 with a 20 horse power motor, and as already stated, the large pump at the station requires 200 horse power. One of the reasons that additional equipment is needed for the light plant (it should be called the light and water plant because it is used for joint power purposes) is that both of our engines are required when we are furnishing power for pumping and lights, and only the larger engine is of sufficient size to operate the large pump at the north side station. Thus we have no reserve power, neither do we have any reserve steam, and when we are cleaning one of our boilers it is necessary to pump from the old station at the south side until both boilers can again be used. If for any reason we cannot use the large engine for the large pump at the north side station, then it is necessary to use the smaller pumps and the cost of operation is considerably increased without any accruing benefits.

The Hamilton engine which is the large one at the light plant is the only engine which has power enough to operate the 2,000,000 gallon pump. As a matter of economy to save the city from $2,500 to $3,000 per year it is proposed to install a 2,000,000 gallon electric pump at the south station and the proposed power will be necessary for this new pump just as it is needed for reserve power now at the north side station. Now when the Hamilton engine is not running it is necessary to pump with steam at the south side plant.

My only motive, and the same is true of the other commissioners, in advocating the issuance of bonds is so that your light and water departments may become more efficient, and at the same time operated at less cost. I believe that bonds, if issued, will mean not an expense but a saving to this city and at the same time greatly increase the usefulness of our light and water departments.

Your servant,

Joshua Vasconcellos,
Commissioner of Public Property.

PERSHING WILL REMAIN IN MEXICO

ward the Big Bend region were assumed here to be directed toward an effort to round up the Glenn Springs raiders from the south while American forces are pressing them from the north. The war department had no information that Major Langhorne and his four troops of cavalry had crossed the line, but assumed that he had done so if there was a hot trail to follow. In all, six troops now are near or at the border in the vicinity of Boquillas where the bandits re-crossed into Mexico. It is toward this point that the Carranza forces from Piedras Negras, numbering about 1,500 men, are understood to be heading.

Officials saw no reason to suspect any but friendly intentions behind the movement. There has been nothing more than suspicion, it is stated, on which to base fears that Carranza garrisons may turn on General Pershing's force. As a matter of military precaution General Funston and General Pershing have shaped all their plans to guard against any such eventually but officials here do not believe that it is a probability.

CALIFORNIA GIRL OFF TO WAR ZONE TO WED.

San Francisco, May 12.—Just as her life at the University of California has been marked by originality and achievements which were different from those of the ordinary student, Miss Deborah Hathaway Dyer's marriage will be different. She is to be the first American war bride from this part of the country. She will sail on Sunday for London. There she will meet her fiancé, Claire M. Torrey, secretary to President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, of the university, who has been attached to the Belgian relief committee for the past six months. The wedding day had been set for May, and young Torrey had planned to return, but the demands for relief work and his fitness for work have kept him in Europe. So he cabled his bride-to-be, and she began preparations for the long trip to London. After the wedding the young people will conduct relief work among the Belgians.

"JIMMY" GLASS GONE FULL YEAR

New York, May 12.—"Jimmy" Glass, who is now about five years old, is still among the missing, despite a year of search in all quarters for the little fellow by his parent and the police. It was just a year ago today that little Jimmy disappeared from Greeley, Pike county, Pa., where his parents have a summer home. In the interim, the whole country has been searched, and if the boy is still living, he is carefully concealed. Police descriptions and photographs of the boy have been supplemented by lantern slide pictures thrown on the screen in moving picture houses all over the country.

Altho each day brings to the home of Jimmy's parents a big bundle of letters from persons who think they have found a clue, no definite information of the little fellow has come to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glass, of 13 Leinau place, Jersey City. The bank accounts of the Glass family are well nigh exhausted by the long hunt, and the municipal government of Jersey City has spent several thousand dollars on traveling expenses for its detectives. And, as the months pass away, with their inevitable changes in the appearance of a growing child, the difficulty of identification has become greater.

Last August the boy's parents made a 2,500-mile trip to Norman, Okla., only to find that the child who was being held there for them was not their own. In March of this year they went to Wilkesbarre on another clue, and were again disappointed.

Only last month a fresh clue came from Nicholasville, Ky., and this seemed to be the most promising of the many clues that came. Again the parents hurried westward, but again they met disappointment. The boy was not theirs.

KENTUCKY DERBY TOMORROW.

Louisville, Ky., May 12.—The stage is set at the Churchill Downs track for the running off of the forty-first renewal of the historic Kentucky Derby, the famous $15,000 race, which will open the race meet tomorrow. Beginning in 1876, and every season since, the distance of this event has been a mile and a quarter. There are so many brilliant 3-year-olds in the Kentucky Derby this season that the event is by far the most open race of recent seasons. The Derby will have an international aspect, for several of the more favored entries were bred and foaled on foreign soil.

Churchill Downs track is in fine shape for the big event, and horsemen predict a fast and close race. Aside from the great Derby, there are seven other big stakes to be run off during the meet at the Downs.

If a Figure Has Flesh—

If a figure has flesh about the waist, the waist must not be tightened until it is all out of proportion with the shoulders. If a figure has flesh about the hips the flesh must not be squeezed until it builds "hippy" hips. If the fleshy form is to be held in certain fashion lines it must be held by a corset shape, and the corset shape must be adequately sustained. Right corseting prevents one from putting on flesh—it hardens the muscles.

If your figure is stout, or regardless of its proportions, you will find, among the extensive range of American Lady Corsets, a model perfect for "your" individual requirements. Prices range

Jelly Roll Recipe

Only Two Eggs Required

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

This Jelly Roll is fast becoming very popular on account of the way it keeps fresh. With proper handling it should keep fresh a whole week, providing it isn't eaten up in the meantime, for it is every bit as good as it looks.

K.C. Jelly Roll

One cup sifted flour; scant half teaspoonful salt; 2 level teaspoonfuls K.C. Baking Powder; grated rind of 1 lemon; 2 eggs beaten light; 1 cup sugar; 1/2 cup hot milk; glass of jelly; powdered sugar.

Beat the sugar into the eggs; add the lemon rind, then the flour, sifted three times with the salt and baking powder; and, lastly, the milk. Bake in a buttered dripping pan; turn out on a damp cloth, trim off the crisp edges; spread with jelly and turn over and over into a roll while still warm. Dredge the top with powdered sugar.

Hot milk used in the jelly roll enables it to be rolled without danger of cracking. Have the milk scalding hot, also be careful to have the eggs and sugar beaten together until very light and creamy. Bake in a moderate oven.

K.C. Jelly Roll is illustrated on page thirty-two of the new and handsomely illustrated 64-page K.C. Cook's Book, which may be secured free by sending the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K.C. Baking Powder to the JAGUROS MFG. CO., Chicago, Ill.

SUCCESSFUL CHICKEN RAISING.
Fish and chicken stories are abroad at this time of the year as are corn husking tales in the fall. Two which are well authenticated show the chicken business to be many times very profitable.

Story number one is of a well known lady who had several hens inclined to the setting business and placing under them, not all under one but the whole under several. 150 eggs has 150 live chicks.

A man who holds a good position which pays probably $50 to $60 a month is a Rhode Island Red fancier and says he makes more money from his chickens than from his salary.

A third story is from a well known farmer, a renter who pays something like $500 annually, and says his wife makes more than that sum with her chickens.

PHENOMENAL BOY ORGANIST.
Frank Collins, Jr., of Virginia appeared before the Federation of Woman's clubs of the Twentieth District at Virginia last week and played an organ solo. The boy who is 13 years of age gave the selection with ability and understanding far beyond what would be expected of one of his age. The number given was the "Grand Offertory" in C. Minor, by Batiste. He responded to an encore, playing "Hosanna," by Wachs. The young man is the organist of the Presbyterian church in Virginia.

THE REV. ARTHUR RIDER WEDS MRS. ADA TUMAN HAMILL

Ceremony Takes Place Friday Afternoon in Nashville, Tenn.—Both Bride and Groom Well Known in City.

Dr. T. J. Pitner received word Friday afternoon of the marriage of the Rev. Arthur Rider, formerly of this city and now engaged in Sunday school work in California, and Mrs. Ada Hamill, whose late husband, the Rev. H. M. Hamill was for many years a prominent missionary worker. The ceremony took place Friday afternoon in Nashville, Tenn., according to the message received from his old friend Dr. Pitner.

The wedding is the culmination of a romance which began when the principals were schoolmates in the high school of Jacksonville. They were then very good friends but the way didn't seem open to be anything more. In due time Mr. Rider completed his course in school, graduated from Illinois college and went west to grow up with the country. He chose the ministry as a profession and was a force in the Baptist church, rising high in his calling, and is now holding an important position as superintendent of Sunday school work with headquarters at Los Angeles. He has not married until the present time.

Miss Ada Tuman was one of the very popular young ladies of the city and was married to Rev. H. M. Hamill, just as he left the profession of teacher for that of the ministry and they went to Franklin with a circuit of Franklin, Providence and Durbin as their work and they made good, most truly. Mr. Hamill soon after went into Sunday school work and his talented wife went with him, all over this land and abroad to Japan, Jerusalem and points in Europe.

Rev. Mr. Hamill became affiliated with the Southern Methodist church with headquarters at Nashville and held a very responsible position in the Sunday school work of that denomination and was also chaplain general of the Confederate Soldiers' Association. He was held in high esteem in many ways and his death, a few years ago, was a source of great sorrow.

Mrs. Hamill continued the work for some time and gave excellent satisfaction. She was called to the Pacific coast and addressed immense audiences and was in much demand and in her own city she could command great gatherings whenever she chose to appear. She was urged to continue her work but felt it her duty to resign that she might better care for her aged mother; that was what she said a few months ago, when she came to take the old lady to Nashville.

Both parties are to be heartily congratulated. She will be a help to him in his work as she was to her first husband and he will have the luxury of a home and some one to care for him. His work will prosper all the more and Mrs. Tuman will doubtless find the air of California very congenial so that from every standpoint the wedding seems wise.

QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.
By Rev. T. S. Lincoff, D. D.

9. Verses 17-37. In addressing a hostile audience it is well for a speaker to commence with things which they believe in common, making those things lead up to the disputed question; what matters did Paul refer to in carrying out this wise rule?

10. Verses 38-39. In what sense can God forgive sins thru Jesus, that he could not thru the law of Moses?

11. Granted a future life of rewards and punishments, what question can compare in importance, with the forgiveness of our sins?

12. What are the indications that men are not sane who reject that mercy and forgiveness offered to them thru Jesus Christ?

13. Verses 40-41. What do unconverted sinners need to "beware" of?

14. Why do sinners reject the salvation offered to them by Jesus? 15. Verses 42-43. What is it a sign of when men want to hear the gospel preached?

16. Verses 44-45. What is the evidence that the story of the cross told by a man filled with The Holy Spirit, still draws crowds, as it did when told by Paul at Antioch?

17. When one preacher is jealous of the good another preacher is doing, what does that signify?

18. Verses 46-49. Is God now, or has he ever been, more partial to one nation than to those whom God ordains to eternal life?

19. Who are those whom God ordains to eternal life? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

20. Would you say, or not, and why, that without exception, all those who love and serve God in sincerity have gladness in their hearts?

21. Verses 50-52. When the bad persecute the good, which are more hurt?

RESTRAINS FORECLOSURE.
Chicago, May 11.—An injunction was issued by the United States district court today restraining H. S. Brown, a former stockholder of the Chicago Gulf Transportation company from foreclosing a mortgage on the steamer Steel City, now at Keokuk, Iowa. Creditors for the company are asking for a receiver.

MR. HUGHES OF AUSTRALIA.

"The best tonic England has had for many a long day," the London Times calls the speeches of the Australian prime minister, Mr. Hughes, who has been stumping England in the interest of a trade war with Germany. A good many Englishmen see to doubt England's need of that kind of tonic. The Glasgow Herald says that, according to report.

There are certain of our public men who would have preferred that he had never left his home, his presence and his words are an embarrassment, his forcefulness is regarded as disturbing and inconvenient. Why this should be so is apparent. The program he is demanding is one of grave concern for England and it is also an imperial concern. Australia has supported the empire very handsomely and must be treated with the utmost consideration. Its prime minister cannot be snubbed, yet his message is one to delight the Northcliffe press and the greedy commercial interests which are clamoring for the destruction of German trade in order that they may get business which they could not get in fair competition and to trouble the moderates who want the war to end in a genuine peace.

In his London speech at the Carlton club, where he was introduced by Mr. Balfour, he expounded the gospel of commercial frightfulness in such terms as these: "Two things are certain: that if we are to have a change, we must begin to prepare for it at once, and that the present arrogant and unalterable determination would not only make easier our task of eradicating German influence here, but would strike a vital blow at the very heart of our enemy which would put him to more confusion than the loss of many battles." He added: "Germany would then see herself isolated, overwhelmed with the tremendous cost of this war, the fabric of her credit would topple, the bubble of her confidence would be broken, her capitalists and workmen would have to abandon hope of that brisk trade employment and profitable trade after the war to which they now cling with the tenacity of drowning men."

From the Australian point of view that may seem a program calculated to make Germany lay down its arms, yet surely in Australia if anywhere the saying should be familiar that one might as well be hanged for a sheep as a lamb. If the Germans should be confronted with that kind of a future they would have no alternative but to keep on fighting. It was the German Hansa league which took and lived up to its motto, "Navigare necesse est; vivere non necesse est." And England's poet has summed up the case, "You take my life when you do take," etc. In short, that program is a program for a war to the last ditch.

Even if Germany were beaten, overwhelmed, choked into submission, it would be but a truce. Mr. Hughes in one of his "tonic" speeches looked forward after all this slaughter "to the sweet green pastures of peace, undaunted by the dreadful specter of war." "Does he really think," sarcastically asks the Nation, which is speaking up very well for the common sense of England, "that a Europe divided by a rigid boycott would be either sweet, or green, or peaceful?" In truth "a babble of green fields;" under that arrangement the "all red" part of the map would not be restricted to the British empire.

Fortunately the historic British document of open trade is still upheld by the most influential writers on economics. In the Economist one authority sturdily affirms that it is neither possible nor desirable to capture German trade. "When the war is over and life returns to its normal course, can it be doubted that the best way for all parties will be to obliterate with all possible speed the horrible injuries it has inflicted." Not quite so magnanimous a spirit was shown by J. M. Robertson, speaking at Manchester. As to penalizing Germany, he said, he had no scruples: "But if in penalizing Germany you penalize yourselves, you would be playing an unpatriotic part; the total depression of Germany would mean impoverishment for the other countries of the world."

Buckle thought 75 years ago, that "The Wealth of Nations" had done more for human happiness and welfare than any other book ever written, or than the efforts of legislators from the beginning of recorded time. It is cheering to see the same teachings of Adam Smith so stoutly upheld in England, even in the face of angry and short-sighted greed. Mr. Hughes of Australia is certainly proving a strong card for the jingo whose temper is not very different from that of their kin across the North sea. But there is still a good hope that England will take a saner and worthier course.

AUTHORS WHO DO NOT GROW.

In many of the well-deserved tributes to the late Richard Harding Davis there was a certain note of disappointment that a career which had promised so much had not led to more. Something of the same feeling was apparent in much of the comment on the 50th birthday of Rudyard Kipling, whose literary career seems to lie in the past, tho he is at an age when many great writers have been but getting their stride. Disappointment of this sort is natural, when much has been expected of a promising young author, but its expression is likely to be unjust. There are precocious talents as well as those which mature slowly and late, and to blame a writer of one kind for not continuing to grow is as unreasonable as to blame one of the other sort for being so slow to develop his powers.

On the whole a late, slow and difficult success seems to be best for an author's art, while prompt recognition of early talent gives a pleasant life. The clever young writer who hits a popular vein is enviable while it lasts, but if success has come before his ideals are well established and his life work found and mapped out, he may become the slave of his public and find his most dangerous rival in his own early work.

This danger is perhaps greatest when early success comes not so much from solid artistic skill as from novelty of theme and a fresh way of looking at things. The writer who draws from within is usually slow in shaping his thoughts and forcing them on the public. On the other hand, a quick and observant eye and a facile style may at once strike the lucky vein which is none the less valuable for being superficial. It was placer mining in Davis' case as in Kipling's, and to find fault with either of them for not finding the deeper lode is not quite reasonable.

R. L. Stevenson, the idol and friend of young writers, once wrote to Davis a kindly note with appreciation of his early writings and some wise words in regard to the necessity of hard "slogging" if one would convert a promising talent into substantial achievement. But it is probably more difficult for one whose efforts have won applause and commercial success than for the tardily appreciated writer like Stevenson to make the necessary sacrifices. Improvement involves experiment, and experiment risks failure; it is easier to go on giving the public what it has come to expect.

In the case of Kipling the matter is more complicated. In addition to his precocious gift for reporting, he had a real if thin and intermittent streak of genius, and his critical sense, at first inactive, grew with his knowledge of life and of books till it may have outstripped and interfered with his power to create. Tho he has frequently in later years published things unworthy of his pen, they have for the most part been occasional. It is possible that he may yet develop a new style and new metier, but for the present his genius appears to have exhausted itself.

It was quite otherwise with Davis, who had made no pretense to genius, but had facility in writing, and active tastes which took him in the way of interesting things and gave him an unending supply of fresh impressions of material that made good "copy." These conditions were most favorable for immediate success, but immediate success was perhaps the least favorable condition for the slow ripening of thought and style needed for sustained growth. But to deplore his failure to develop, and many other young American writers are in the same case, is hardly worth while. The disappointment, felt by some of his warmest admirers, is due in no small part to overestimate of the significance of the early work which he did so well, and to a failure to appreciate the enormous gap between clever light writing of that sort and the serious literary work to which he probably never aspired. He should rather be praised for keeping on the whole so well to his own level when there were so many temptations to fall below it.

DELEGATES WHO STAND.

Those who have looked for Col. Roosevelt's nomination at Chicago merely because of the amazing development of his strength four years ago in the popular primary states as the convention then drew near, have ignored essential differences between the situation in 1912 and that which exists today. In 1912 he was making an active, direct campaign as a member of the republican party for whatever delegates he could get. In 1916 he is outside the party and the most active campaign waged in his behalf in any state is that just concluded in Massachusetts.

Col. Roosevelt and his clearer-sighted friends—in distinction from the Cushings and Gardners—have seen that the only hope of his nomination lay in a wave of popular demand which would sweep the convention off its feet. But those who control the organization of the party, and who do not want the colonel, have been equally aware that his only hope was their only danger. Consequently it has been safe to assume that the delegates selected here and there through the country have been what "Uncle Joe" Cannon once tersely described as "republicans who will stand without hitching"—men not to be stampeded.

The assumption proves increasingly well founded as the names of the delegates and their past political experience are learned. In a large number of cases they are the same men who sat in the convention in 1912 and nominated Taft and then heard themselves denounced all over the country as thieves and robbers. Thus not only have they been under fire before, but the recollection of the manner in which they were then attacked must tend to make them stand firmer.

WAXED VOILES AND WAXED SILK.

Waxed silks, voiles and wool and mohair mixtures are the craze now in Paris which is quite mad over these new "tissus dres." Callot and Cheruit especially, have taken up these waxed fabrics and in addition to the stiffness of the material there are facings of stiffening under hems and peplums. Paris fashions enormously these days, Decoll being the only house that does not emphasize clinging effects. Promet is exploiting flare effects extravagantly. Not only are the Promet frocks stiffened at the hem and at the hip, but broad sashes are lined with resilient fabric and boned at the ends so that they stand out from the skirts.

IMPRESSIVE MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR LATE ROBERT TILTON

Many Members of the Bar Speak Tribute to Memory of Departed State's Attorney.

Impressive memorial services to the memory of former State's Attorney Robert Tilton were held in the circuit court room Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. There was a large membership of the bar present and Judge Burton presided. The resolutions were presented by L. O. Vaught, chairman of the committee. After the resolutions were read the following attorneys made brief remarks: John A. Bellatti, M. T. Layman, W. N. Hairgrove, J. Marshall Miller, Thomas Worthington, J. P. Lippincott, E. P. Brockhouse, W. E. Thompson, Walter Bellatti, Paul P. Thompson, J. O. Priest, Paul Samuel, Sheriff Graff and Judge Frank Burton. All of the speakers emphasized the well known integrity of the deceased and his high sense of honor.

The arguments in the Lewellyn Davies case were finished late in the afternoon and Judge Burton took the case under advisement and will give a decision later. The resolutions follow:

It is with a feeling of genuine sorrow that your Committee enters upon the task you have imposed of drafting suitable resolutions in memory of Robert Tilton. For so long he was a part, and no small part, of the very life of this bar, that it seems almost beyond belief that he has gone, gone forever. He began at the bottom and worked his way up, slowly but consistently. In the good old fashioned way he read law with Morrison and Whitlock and with that firm he stayed in the kindly ways of those days until he could establish himself in his own office. Particularly he linked the old with the present. He was one of the organizers of the Morgan County Bar association and in that organization he took a deep interest. He realized fully the kindlier feeling which such an Association brings about among the members of the bar. Ill will and rancor, malice and hatred, had no place in his make up. His was a kindly disposition, and probably largely because of that fact there was no member of this bar toward whom the members felt kinder. Now that he has gone we but tell the truth when we say of him among all our number there is not one harsh memory. "Of the dead nothing but good." In the present instance not because this is the polite way of the world but because it is true. Not a stain against his record as a lawyer. In the days when it was so common for public officials to be of doubtful integrity there has not in all this community been one more than ordinary is the record of him whom we today mourn. It is a record any man of us might well be proud to leave behind. With such feeling in our hearts we offer these resolutions:

Resolved, by the Bar of Morgan County that by the death of Robert Tilton this Bar has lost a member of real worth, the community a citizen who did his duty, the county an honest official, each member of this Bar a friend. That the foregoing be sent to the father and mother that they may see how their son was regarded by those who knew him best. That these resolutions be spread upon the public records of the County that those who may come after may read of the honorable life and record of Robert Tilton.

Respectfully submitted,
M. T. Layman,
L. O. Vaught,
Wm. N. Hairgrove.
PRESENT, the Hon. Frank W. Burton, Judge Presiding, and the following members of the bar:
Messrs: Vaught, Wright, Samuel, Worthington, Brockhouse, Butler, Moriarty, W. E. Thompson, W. Bellatti, John A. Bellatti, Layman, Hairgrove, Miller, P. P. Thompson, Lippincott, Priest, English and court house officials.

COMMUNICATION.

The Journal:
Please grant me a little space to reply to the article appearing in your paper regarding Kentucky. I wonder if the man who wrote the article was ever in Kentucky. I was raised in the mountain regions of Kentucky and I never saw any more drunken men there than I have seen in Illinois. I also believe that the citizens of Kentucky are as law abiding as they are in other states. As for crime I think they have just as bad men right here in Jacksonville as they have in the mountains of Kentucky. My advice is for the writer to keep his own doorstep clean before he attempts to clean some one else's.

BROMLEY'S STORE

BURGLARIZED.
The tailoring establishment of A. L. Bromley in the Hulton building in West State street was entered by burglars Thursday evening. The thieves carried away six suits, three pair of trousers, a rain coat, a coat and vest and three suit cases. The burglars gained entrance by cutting out a pane of glass in one of the rear windows and then unfastening the catch. It is probable that the work was done by local talent as the safe was untouched and books and other things on the tables were not disturbed. Mr. Bromley had forgotten to lock the safe the night before and the door was standing open. Mr. Bromley furnished the police with a good description of the stolen goods and it is hoped to apprehend the thieves and recover the goods.

The first melons of the season were displayed in the show window of the Peacock Inn yesterday. They are moderate sized and cost only $1.50 each in Chicago.

THE GREAT CANAL ACROSS THE EMPIRE STATE

New York's Barge Canal Rivals Panama Waterway in Magnitude and as an Engineering Feat.

Summary of Barge Canal.
350 to 400 structures.
540 miles long.
9,000,000 people building canal.
to cost $128,000,000.

Built thru a thickly populated and highly developed territory, including cities, where vested rights, property interests, legal complications, the need of guarding community interest and the prohibitive cost of acquiring rights, narrowly limit the engineer in his choice of action, so that often the best plans must give way to the best that can be carried out under existing conditions.

Built under a system that is dependent to a considerable extent on the will of the contractor.

Built by those who have no control of transportation facilities, except the old canal.

Navigation on old canal must be maintained during construction.

Climatic conditions stop most of work during winter and early spring.

Quantities of construction items on the Barge canal are equal to about three-quarters of those on the Panama canal, but the Barge canal, including terminals at more than fifty cities and villages, is being built for little more than one-third the cost of the Panama. Also, the people of New York State are paying for all of the Barge canal and their share of the Panama canal, and this share is probably considerably more than the one-tenth proportion shown by the relative populations.

Rivalling the great waterway at Panama as an engineering feat, the new Barge canal of New York State, now nearing completion, is the largest enterprise of this nature in the world.

The Panama canal is 50 miles long, built thru an undeveloped country. The New York Barge canal consists of 440 miles of new canal construction and 350 miles of intervening lakes and rivers, a total of 790 miles of canal built thru a thickly populated territory where property rights and other difficulties hampered the engineers. In further comparison there are six pairs of locks at Panama, against 7 locks on Barge canal. The latter contains one flight of five locks, located along a distance of about a mile and one-half, at Waterford, N. Y., which have the greatest lift of any locks in the world, elevating boats to a height of 169 feet or within one foot of twice the total lift of the Panama locks.

The Empire State has always been foremost in developing its waterways. As early as 1792 two private companies were chartered to build canals in the State. These first canals were built to avoid falls and rapids in otherwise navigable streams. In 1817 the original Erie canal was begun thru what was then practically a wilderness, opening the way to the Great Lakes in 1825. This canal was 28 feet wide at the bottom, 40 feet wide at the water level and 4 feet deep.

H. M. ANDRE ALTERNATE TO NATIONAL CONVENTION

Named for Episcopal Church Gathering in St. Louis Next October—
Rev. H. R. Neely Here.

H. M. Andre was named as a lay alternate to the general convention of the Episcopal church, to be held in St. Louis next October, at the general synod of the Springfield diocese, whose sessions were brought to a close Thursday afternoon. C. W. Cornick and Charles Fawcett were present from Trinity church as were Mrs. W. H. Jackson, who went in the interests of the woman's work, and the Rev. J. F. Langton, rector of Jacksonville parish.

The Rev. H. R. Neely, former pastor of Trinity, was present from Chicago to attend the synod, and Friday was calling on friends in Jacksonville. Rev. Mr. Neely has for the past year quite successfully filled the pulpit of the Church of the Ascension, Chicago, as the temporary pastor.

Other delegates and alternates selected from the Springfield diocese are:

Lay delegates: Major Buford Wilson, Springfield; John F. Cadwallader, Springfield; Miles Frederick Gilbert, Cairo; Hon. Fred W. Potter, Albion; alternates, D. K. Dodge, Champaign; D. W. Cooper, Danville, and Dr. E. E. Hagler, Springfield.

Two committees, those on the endowment fund, and on the revision of the constitution, were elected during the afternoon. The members are:

Committee on endowment fund—Bishop E. W. Osborne, Robert Humphrey, Lincoln; E. A. Snivley, W. R. Vredenburg and J. F. Cadwallader of Springfield.

Committee on revision of constitution—Rev. J. G. Wright, Greenville; Rev. H. M. Chittenden, Salem; Rev. Miles Gilbert, Cairo; Rev. D. W. Zimmerman, Taylorville, and W. G. Burrough, Collinsville.

1819 Miles

NEW YORK

1819 Miles in 24 Hours

by a Hudson Super-Six

An Endurance Record Never Matched
By Any Traveling Machine

No man today—if he knows the facts—doubts the Super-Six supremacy.

At first the truth seemed like a romance. Think of one new invention, applied to a light six, adding 80 per cent to its power.

Then official records began to pile up, certified by the A. A. A. The whole motoring world then had to concede this the greatest motor built.

But many men asked, "What about the endurance? Can a motor so flexible, so speedy, so powerful, stand up in years of road use?"

So we asked Ralph Mulford to take a stock Super-Six chassis and, under official supervision, show the world its endurance.

World's Records Broken

He took a Super-Six stock chassis—certified by A. A. A. officials.

It had already been driven over 2000 miles at speed exceeding 80 miles per hour.

It had made a mile at Daytona at the rate of 102.53 miles per hour.

And he drove that car 1819 miles in 24 hours of continuous driving—at an average speed of 75.8 miles per hour.

At the end of that test—after nearly 4000 miles of record-breaking strain—the engine, when dismantled, showed no appreciable wear.

The best previous 24-hour record for an American stock car was 1196 miles. The Super-Six beat that by 52 per cent.

The best foreign-car record for 24 hours is 1581 miles. But that wasn't a stock car. The Super-Six beat that by 15 per cent.

How Long Will It Last?

It will be many years from now before we can tell you how long a Hudson Super-Six will last.

But the records we cite cover the greatest strains a motor car ever met. Many a great engine has gone to pieces under far lesser strain. Years of ordinary driving would never tax a motor like these that are the basis of speed tests.

Yet the wear was almost nothing. Certain it is that no man has ever built a traveling machine to compare with this car in endurance.

All Questions Answered

That was the last question—this one of endurance. In all other ways it has long been evident that the Super-Six stands supreme.

Never has a motor of this size shown anywhere near such power. Never was an engine made to match this in smoothness. Never has a stock car recorded equal performance—in hill-climbing, quick acceleration or speed.

Handsome cars have never been shown. Finer engineering is simply unthinkable, with Howard E. Coffin at the head of this department.

You are getting the car of the day when you get the Super-Six. Every man who knows the facts knows that. And, in view of our patents, rivalry is impossible.

No Need to Wait

It is natural to say, "Let us wait and see" when we meet such radical advancements. We think that nothing can excel in so many ways without falling behind in one.

But not one fact about the Super-Six is left unproved today. Not in one respect has its performance been matched. Not in any way has a rival motor been made to compare with this.

There is no need to wait to get Time's verdict on the Super-Six. The records prove the Super-Six supreme. A half-hour's ride without those records would convince any man of the fact.

Thousands of these cars are now running. You will find them in every locality. And every owner will tell you that he never meets a car to compare with his, in looks or performance.

These are things to consider when you buy a car.

A WESTERN CONFIDENCE GAME.

A gentleman well versed in western boom town ways told recently how they do thing out there and the story was interesting.

We will suppose that John Smith goes out west with a good sized bank account to make an investment. He visits a boom town and is soon sized up by the local celebrities who proceed with caution. Finally, when the proper time comes John Jones will make him an offer of a large block of some kind of property at a good sized figure and tells him to consider the matter carefully.

Next day, John Brown, a confederate, meets Mr. Smith and falls into conversation with him and becomes deeply interested in him and they are soon good friends, John Brown invites Mr. Smith to a hotel for dinner and there they discuss matters and finally Mr. Brown asks Mr. Smith if he has found anything that strikes his fancy. Mr. Smith very guardedly discloses the offer Mr. Jones has made him whereupon Mr. Brown is much surprised and wants to know of Mr. Smith if he is really in earnest and isn't mistaken. Mr. Smith is quite positive he is correct and Mrs. Jones still seems incredulous for the property is really worth far more than the figure mentioned. Mr. Smith is positive and Jones is also so positive that he draws his checkbook, writes a check payable to John Brown for a good sized sum and hands it to Mr. Smith saying he has that much confidence in the deal and as a guarantee of good faith will back up his opinion to that amount and go into partnership with Mr. Smith in the deal and divide the profits as he is well prepared to handle the property.

Of course Mr. Smith thinks he has struck a bonanza and hastens to close the deal. Mr. Jones gets his check back and Mr. Smith gets, well sold, to say the least and in time returns a sadder and wiser man.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE NOTES

After a 35 day trip thru the twelve enfranchised states, the Congressional Union envoys will reach Washington May 16 and deliver the voting women's ultimatum to Congress. "Pass the Susan B. Anthony amendment in this session, or prepare for war," is the substance of the "note" which will travel west from Salt Lake on board the "Suffrage Special."

Congress has been apprised of the approach of the envoys and state senators are conjuring over the request filed by a group of voting women that the envoys be granted the privilege of making their appeal for nation-wide suffrage from the floor of the senate chamber. The resolution introduced by Senator Curtis created a furore among the national legislators and was referred to the rules committee.

Suffragists have found many staunch friends at the Capitol lined up on their side. Senator Lawrence V. Sherman of Illinois, Senator H. L. Myers of Montana, Senator Charles Curtis of Washington, Senator Frank Mondell of Wyoming, Senator Shafroth of Colorado and others have pledged their support to the Union in the fight to secure the passage of the amendment in this session.

During their trip thru the free states the envoys distributed one hundred thousand calls to the Women's Party convention to be held in Chicago, June 5, 6 and 7, simultaneously with the Republican and Progressive party convention. Many clever ways of distributing the calls were adopted, for instance, in Seattle they were spilled from an aeroplane that made a spectacular flight over the city for that purpose. Seattle will show its appreciation of the unique stunt by sending a strong delegation to the Windy City to help launch the new party.

Acting on the tip from Colonel Roosevelt who recently endorsed nation-wide suffrage, politicians all over the country are lining up in favor of the amendment, according to information given out by the Union. Word has just been received at the national headquarters that the Republican State Committee of Colorado passed a resolution endorsing the federal amendment policy. According to Miss Alice Paul, national chairman of the Union, the action of the Colorado Republicans is in line with that of other state political bodies throughout the west where nation wide suffrage has been generally supported.

Names of delegates to the Women's Party convention are pouring into the Chicago headquarters. Mrs. Lilla Day Monroe will head the Kansas delegation; Mrs. Bertha W. Fowler will lead the vanguard from Colorado; Mrs. Margaret Zane Cherdron will head the group from Utah; Miss Anne Martin will bring the constituents from Nevada; Miss Maude Younger, Miss Gail Longhlin and Mrs. Sara Bard Field will bring the suffragists from California.

Gene Hart of the north part of the county was a city visitor yesterday.

OBITUARY.
Died at the home of her nephew, Henry Marks, April 22, Mrs. Josephine Marks DeFretas, of a mild attack of lagrippe and infirmities of age. Mrs. DeFretas was born in the Island of Madeira Oct. 11, 1827, being 90 years, 6 months and 11 days old. She was a daughter of M. Mendonsa Fortado. In 1849 she left her native land and came to Trinidad, British West Indies, there she was united in wedlock to Joseph Marks and in 1852 she and her husband came to Jacksonville, her husband dying about forty years ago. She then married Justino DeFretas who also died soon after. She then moved to Springfield and lived with her son, Henry Marks, once a patrolman and deputy sheriff, then moving to Pueblo, Colo., when her son died. She then moved back to Jacksonville in June, 1911, and had made her home with her nephew.

She was the mother of four children, three of whom preceded her in death, Joseph, who died in Trinidad; Lizzie, who died in Jacksonville, Colo., and is survived by one daughter and four grandchildren and two great grandchildren. The Misses Fernandes of Springfield and Richard and Josie of Salt Lake City are the grandchildren.

She was a consistent Christian and until her declining years she was always an attendant at the house of worship. Her favorite song was translated from the Portuguese: Rest here have we none
In heaven is our hope
By faith we live there.

Afflicted but full of joy
We wait for Jesus
The coming which is not long
Saviour full of light.

Jesus that loves us so much
We love Jesus,
Jesus that died for us
Suffering the death of the cross.

Hail Jesus that comes quickly
Bringing a reward
Giving to every one
As He has promised.

Peaceful be thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in thy grave so low;
Thou no more will join our number
Thou no more our sorrows know.
Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled,
And in heaven with joy to greet thee
When no farewell tears are shed.

SCHOOL QUESTIONS CONSIDERED AT BROTHERHOOD MEETING

J. P. Lippincott Makes Interesting Address at Congregational Church—Says Candidates Should Not Pass Own Petitions—Election of Officers.

That candidates for membership on the board of education should not be required to circulate their own petitions was a suggestion made in an address by J. P. Lippincott Friday night before the brotherhood of the Congregational church. Mr. Lippincott began his talk by touching upon a few of the vital matters of the present situation.

Members of the brotherhood enjoyed supper in the parlors of the church at 6:30 o'clock and afterward chose officers for the coming year as follows:

President—Charles H. Ward.

Secretary—George Coe.
Treasurer—Stanley Post.
Class Teacher—J. P. Lippincott.

The meeting then adjourned to the lecture room where some time was devoted to school matters. J. P. Lippincott gave a very interesting address on the growth and advance in public school legislation. When the first constitution was adopted there was nothing in it regarding public schools. For a long time the expenses of schools were paid by subscription. In 1845 there was some advance and several pages of the laws were devoted to schools and now the book relating to the same subject has 130 pages.

The speaker went on to tell the various points in the laws and showed in an interesting manner how sentiment in favor of schools had grown. He told of the powers first given directors to raise and appropriate money for schools. It was a good while before there was a state superintendent of public instruction. County superintendents were also of a later date.

A new general law was enacted in 1874 and now there are two distinct organizations, township trustees and district. All officials must make certain reports, provide revenues, adopt and enforce rules and regulations, visit the schools and see that suitable means for carrying on the work are adopted. Text books for the poor must be provided, enough schools must be established to enable all children to have an education, teachers must be examined, reports made and general conditions complied.

The speaker emphasized his desire to have the schools wholly divorced from politics and the city government. The entire address showed a great familiarity with the subject and gave an admirable resume of the progress that has been made in the matter of public education.

S. A. Fairbanks, the chairman, then called on a number of persons to speak and L. O. Vaught responded first.

The present situation is the opportunity of Jacksonville to get away from the one and undesirable situation and get better conditions in our schools," said Mr. Vaught. The city is placed in the position of starting anew and the manner in which it starts off now will govern it for thirty years. It is especially desirable that the schools be wholly divorced from the city administration. I am sorely disappointed over the fact that Mayor Rodgers has seen fit to announce himself. The schools should have nothing to do with the city administration. The people want to set their faces forward. They are opposed to the old way and not one of the old board should be on the new. No person who wants an office or has political aspirations should be a member. Persons who have only the best interests of the schools at heart should be chosen. The mere fact that a person seeks the nomination should be a disqualifier. The chief business of the board is to select a good superintendent and if they get the right man let him run the schools. This would eliminate the log rolling for teachers and much evil. Many seem to think because we are under a new system all will be well but it will not be unless something is done to get new members. I am certain if any number of people would get together and nominate good persons for members they would be elected three to one. We can't expect the right kind of a person to carry around his own position that should be done for him. We are 25 years behind in our public schools and it is time we are waking up."

Dr. E. F. Baker was asked to speak. "It is enough to ask the right men and women to be candidates and others should secure the signatures to petitions," said he. "Mayor Rodgers' candidacy at once mixes the schools with politics which is a mistake. Then too he is an employee of a bank, which complicates matters. I like all Mr. Vaught said and will help circulate petitions for the right persons."

Unbiased Candidates Needed
E. C. Saye was called on. "I have a boy in school and am interested," Mr. Saye remarked. "Past conditions have not been what they should be. I am opposed to the candidacy of Mayor Rodgers. It will be mixing city politics and schools as in the past. I want to see candidates who have no preferences, no friends to place in positions and have only the good of the schools at heart. The one person interested just now is Supt. Collins and the ones in favor of him. Those who want to hold their places are anxious now to know what will be done. If those who want to see a change sit by and do nothing nothing will be done and we shall go right along as in the past. We want a new deal."

Another speaker said the slickest machine ever known was slyly at work and would have full control of the schools unless something was done to circumvent it. The affair had been working for weeks and was still busy and a new slate is imperative if it is to be beaten.

JOHN N. WARD WILL CELEBRATE BUSINESS ANNIVERSARY TODAY

Became Store Proprietor Forty Eight Years Ago—Escaped Death Narrowly Four Times in Younger Days.

Today is the forty-eighth anniversary of the date on which John N. Ward, now a veteran Jacksonville merchant, entered business here. Mr. Ward on this date forty-eight years ago took possession of the book store on South Main street which was located in the room now occupied by James Cruse. Mr. Ward had looked over the store some weeks before when he happened to be a visitor in Jacksonville and after returning to his home in Bloomington decided to make the purchase and concluded the negotiations by mail. Subsequently he associated with him his two brothers, Charles H. Ward and the late A. J. Ward, and for several years a partnership existed with the late C. M. Eames, in the store room on the south side of the square now occupied by the Princess Candy company. Then the Ward bindery was in the building now occupied by W. T. Brown Piano company, J. P. Brown and the Hoffman Floral company. From there the location changed to the Wadsworth building and finally Mr. Ward erected the present commodious structure on West Morgan street. The business has grown in a steady and substantial way and now the Ward bindery has business relations with libraries in a large percentage of the states of the union. While some business is done with individuals, the great bulk comes from libraries. Twenty-five to thirty people are employed and the business is one of the strongest in Jacksonville.

A Charmed Life

Personally Mr. Ward is a useful and valued citizen of Jacksonville who has unfailingly been identified with all forward movements in the city. That he is still here leads anyone familiar with his personal history to the conclusion that certainly his is a charmed life. When a baby a year and a half old he slipped from a high chair and hung with a strap about his throat and was discovered by members of the family just in time to save his life. A few years later as he was playing about the yard he fell into a cistern and workmen who happened nearby heard the splash and rescued him just as he was going down for the third time. There were no more narrow escapes until he was thirteen or fourteen years of age, when he fell down an elevator shaft from a third story to a basement of a building in which he was working. The fall was broken in some way and so he landed in the basement without any shattered bones, altho badly bruised and suffering from nervous shock.

The Most Serious Accident
A few years later a much more serious accident happened. While in the basement of a store room in Bloomington with a lighted candle in his hand he was examining a varnish barrel supposedly empty. He was looking into a hole in the barrel, holding the candle near the faucet, when the whole exploded and he was covered with the flaming varnish. His clothing was all on fire and all that saved his life was the fact that he rushed thru the cellar doorway and extinguished the flames by rolling in the snow. His face and body were terrifically burned and expert surgical care was necessary for weeks afterward to save his life. But after these experiences for Mr. Ward life ran more smoothly and his career has not been characterized by other tragic events. Today he is in truth a veteran in business but by no means in the superannuated list.

RUMORS ARE UNCONFIRMED
Mercedes, Texas, May 12.—Rumors of renewed activity by Mexican bandits in the lower Rio Grande valley received no confirmation today from the investigation by state and army authorities of the killing last night of Curtis Bayles, an American farmer. It was said authoritatively that no evidence had been found to indicate that the three men who attacked Bayles at his home near Mercedes came across the Rio Grande or were part of any concerted outbreak against Americans of this section.

OAK PARK PASTOR TO SPEAK AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Frederick H. Luhman of Chicago Will Be Here Sunday—Is Candidate for Pulpit Here.

The board of deacons of First Baptist church have extended an invitation to the Rev. Frederick H. Luhman, pastor of Lombard Avenue Baptist church in Oak Park, to preach here at the Sunday morning service.

The candidacy of Rev. Mr. Luhman for the pulpit of the local church will be considered at a meeting of the advisory board Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mr. Luhman was graduated from Moody Bible institute and from the Northern Baptist Theological seminary of Chicago, and is a close friend of the Rev. Percy W. Stephens, whose pastorate here will close with the present month. The fact that the church building was recently enlarged attests the steady success which has attended Rev. Mr. Luhman through his work in Oak Park. The still young in years the pastor is accounted one of the most energetic workers among Illinois Baptist ministers. Mr. Luhman is also a Moody graduate and has been active in church work.

At the evening service Rev. Mr. Luhman will speak briefly, assisting Rev. Mr. Stephens in the Mothers' day service. Rev. Mr. Stephens will take as his theme, "The Mother of Jesus," and pictures of mothers of members of the church who are now in heaven will decorate the auditorium. The oldest mother present at the service will be given special honor by the pastor. The big revival meeting choir will assist, led by Prof. W. C. Springgate.

LOWER RATES MEAN MORE BUSINESS FOR THE ELECTRIC COMPANIES

Supt. Miser Explains Downward Tendency of Prices During Past Twenty Years by Statement That Increased Consumption Has Meant More Profits—Low Rates Said to Be Most Profitable—Why Not Accept the Rates Made by the Utilities Commission.

"Your editorial query as to how we could afford to reduce house and store lighting rates more than the total gross income from street lights is a perfectly natural one, and I am glad you have brought it out," said W. B. Miser, superintendent of the Railway and Light Company Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 12, '12. He referred to the editorial in yesterday's Journal which stated that patrons would not stop to bother about how the company, popularly supposed to do an annual electric business of at least $80,000, can reduce that revenue by $23,000 or $24,000 in return for a street lighting contract for $12,000.

"The fact is," continued Mr. Miser, "we do not expect our revenue to be decreased by such amount as that suggested by your editorial. If every reduction in rates was not accompanied by an increased use of electricity there would not be the great downward trend in electric rates which has taken place in the past twenty-five years. By increasing our business through more general use of electric irons and other appliances using current during the day when our lighting load is small and by getting the street lighting contract, which uses current which goes to factories and street cars during the day, we can run our plant with a minimum amount of idle machinery, and it is the prevention of idle machinery that brings the profits in our business."

"It seems paradoxical, but it is true to a certain extent that lowest rates for electricity are the most profitable. In other words a power customer paying three or four cents a kilowatt hour for current, pays us, if he runs ten hours a day, thirty or forty cents; but the lighting customer paying twelve cents a kilowatt hour, uses his light's only about two hours a day on the average, or only twenty-four cents a day. And yet it takes the same investment and the same amount of labor to serve one as the other."

"You may be sure that we do not make this offer of a reduction with the idea that we will lose money on it, but it can only be made if we are assured of such an improvement in our 'load factor' as the street lighting would give.
"While we do not expect to lose money in the long run on this reduction, it must be borne in mind that it means a great saving in the aggregate to the users of electric light in Jacksonville, and that while we are benefitting ourselves by increasing our business, we are benefitting each of our customers by making his electricity cost him less."

Then why not accept the ruling of the State Utilities commission and give the people the benefit. If Mr. Miser was right in his reasoning, when fighting a bond issue two years ago, why appeal from the ruling of the utilities board now, benefitting themselves and the people? The same tactics were used by the local corporation two years ago that they are using now.

THE BOND TAX COST.
Read these figures and note what a small addition to your taxes the proposed bond issue would mean.

If your taxes are:
$5 add just 20 cents.
$10 add just 40 cents.
$15 add just 60 cents.
$20 add just 80 cents.
$25 add just $1.00.
$30 add just $1.20.
$35 add just $1.40.
$40 add just $1.60.
$45 add just $1.80.
$50 add just $2.00.
$100 add just $4.00.

The amounts grow less each year as the bonds are paid.

The first taxes payable on this will come in May, 1918. The tax levy could not be made until Feb. 1917. The tax would be extended by the County Clerk in December, 1917, and final collection made by the sheriff in May, 1918.

DUAL MEET DOUBTFUL.

At a late hour last night, it could not be said with certainty whether conditions would make it impossible to hold the meet today, tho a steady rain, which continued almost until 2 o'clock, made the likelihood of a track contest with Millikin seem very slight. Coach Harmon will notify the Decatur school some time this forenoon, if it is definitely decided to call the meet off.

The Greene county meet at White Hall will probably not be held, according to word last night from Roodhouse.
